Success Story

Melissa is one of our success stories. Melissa studied enrolled nursing as a mature aged student and was offered a permanent role at Melbourne Private Hospital. A wish to work in the hospital's high dependency unit prompted Melissa to enrol in the Bachelor of Nursing and she subsequently completed her graduate program at Melbourne Private Hospital.

Melissa did post graduate study in diabetes education to better support patients with complex needs and was encouraged to apply for the Clinical Care Coordinator role in neurosurgery, a role she relishes.

"During my graduate program I was able to branch out and get more in depth nursing experience with six months on the cardiac ward and six months on the general medical ward. The whole team have been so supportive of me going back to study. It is the teamwork at Melbourne Private Hospital and great supportive managers that made it easier for me."

Other Healthscope hospitals have similar stories of enrolled and registered nurse graduates who have been supported to develop careers and access additional training opportunities across a wide variety of areas from mental health, to chemotherapy and peri-operative nursing.

We look forward to adding your story to our list of successes.
